

NNAS FESTIVE NEWSLETTER

In this issue:

- Fees update
- AGM round-up
- Book review by Nigel
- Seasonal office closure

Each year the Board reviews prices and raises them in line with inflation. The updated fees were announced at the AGM and come into play from the 1st of May '24.

The new fees will be as follows:

- Navigator renewals £96 (previously £90)
- ODA renewals £34 (previously £32)
- Nav + ODA renewals £115 (previously £107)
- Navigator course fees £8
- Tutor course fees £16
- Metal pin badges £3.20
- ODA certs & badges - No change, remain at £2.20

Book review by Nigel Williams

Read Nigel's review of Dark and Magical Places, The Neuroscience of How We Navigate, by Christopher Kemp.

Nigel says "If you are at all interested in the teaching of navigation, I recommend this book. It was published in 2021 and is the most up to date on the subject."

You can read Nigel's full review here

Office festive closure

The office will close on the 22nd December at 4pm.

The office will reopen on the 8th January at 9am.

We wish you all the best for a happy and peaceful holiday season!

AGM round-up

Many thanks to all who attended the virtual workshops during the week before the AGM. We have received some lovely feedback and people found them very useful indeed.

If there is a particular subject or topic you would like to see covered in a future virtual workshop, please let the office know and we'll do our best to make it happen!

Thanks also to all of you who took time out of their afternoon to attend the AGM via Zoom.

The 2024 AGM will be on the 23rd November via Zoom, so please put that in your diary.

